5. LESSONS LEARNT: (IF ANY): For future improvements

- Being the first mission after the funds initial set up about 9mths ago with all guidelines drafted, some of the required details for such mission reporting were missed out. Critical info. have to be recorded next time.

6. THOUGHTS OF THE DAY:

- Drops of water can make an ocean. With our small contributions amassed, at some point in time, somewhere out there in the world, our warmth of humanity and compassion will be touch the lives of the less fortunate and help make their days a little happier, brighter and lovelier .
- Life is a continuous climb up a long ladder. Have we ever forgotten to stop and look down once awhile, to appreciate how high we have climbed and be happy that we have reached places where some can only dream of? Our journey has to continue till the end, but never forget to take frequent breaks to appreciate the sceneries, that of your environment, your loved ones, your friends and your fellow beings. Else when these are gone, only memories are left and there will be little else left for you to do then to make things better.
